Other Evidence of Russian Intentions to Establish a Serarate Russian Zone Government

- During February and March 1947, Kolesnichenko had several conferences with Dr. Faul and his ministers requesting their agreement to a general strengthenting of the Central Administration in Berlin. This was to receive the right to speak for the entire Russian occupation zone, permission to send representatives to the Lands to discuss internal Land problems, etc. Although the Land governments, including Thuringia, disapproved of this measure, they were overruled, and the general economic direction of the entire Soviet Zone was turned over to the Central Administration and the political direction to the Central Secretariat of SED.
- 7. In March 1947 Kolesnichenko called a conference to discuss measures which would strengthen the Russian Zone border police; the participants were General Belyavski, Major General Smirnov; Colonel Kortunov, Lt. Colonel Ivanov, Deputy Minister-President Eggerath, Chief of Thuringian Police Rausch, and his deputy Jorgs. The conference decided that special police units, numbering argroximately 900 in Thuringia, were to be created and should receive the lest possible equipment, special transportation facilities, extra clothing, and every type of support from the Russians.
- 8. Other indications 25X1 that the Russians plan to establish an independent Eastern Zone include their attitude toward the Kunich Conference, their constant refusal to remait the establishment of a central German court (Reichsgericht), their constant smear barrage against the West conducted by everyone from Kolesnichenko down to the last SED functionary, and the founding of Derunapht as a joint Russian-German fuel corporation, according to Semenenko (SMA Berlin representative for fuels), "to compete with Western Germany." In addition Kolesnichenko's repeated 25X1 statement that the London Conference would not settle German 25X1 unity.
